Petition Groups Plan Protest At Hearings For Residential Plans

There'll be heck in the old town Friday — if all the people from Lemon Grove who are protesting two separate requests for special use permits show up at the County Planning Department as scheduled.

The hearings, set for 11 a.m. Friday in room 358 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, are for two Planned Residential Developments in the southern part of Lemon Grove.

The smaller of the two is for 20 units in ten one-story duplex structures at the south end of New Jersey st., about 650 feet south from its intersection with San Miguel ave. The area is zoned R-2-A.

Starflight Homes, the applicant, also asks a waiver by which a volleyball court may be built within 100 feet of the property line. Normally, recreational portions are kept 100 or more feet inside the property but approval on such waivers is usually routine.

About 100 petitioners are asking County Planning to deny the application on the basis that such a development would deteriorate the entire community. Charles Hyman, of 7519 Davidson dr., a spokesman for the group, said that the area contains mostly single unit residences. The harmony of the evirons would be disrupted by low cost housing, if such is the case, he said. He said the development is to be built in "a hollow' which would further reduce the neighborhood's attractiveness.

Other residents helping to get petitioners together include Frank Wehner, of 7524 Davidson, and Frank Rogers, of 7503 Tweed.

300 Petitioners

In a similar action but at a different location, Dr. Harry Sorteberg, of 1885 Skyline dr., is spokesman for a group of nearly 300 petitioners who are protesting a Planned Residential Development at the north end of Drexel dr., about 350 feet north from its intersection with Canton. More particularly, it is between Skyline and Washington, east and west, and between Canton and Alton, north and south. The area is R-2-A and is comprised mostly of single dwelling type residences.

Russia Reports on Russia

Many of the news media in the United States have a direct line into the United States of Soviet Russia's press distribution center. Apparently, the Soviet's keep these lines open in order to smother with propaganda any development that seems to be in adverse interest to USSR.

Then for almost any great and important development on the globe or in space, USSR it quick to file a report which shows an advantage to the Russians.

Recently a Soviet plane was hijacked. The apprehension and conviction of the culprits was dished up as a huge Soviet victory. While none of the details were made available, we'll have to accept the Soviet's word for it that it was indeed a victory of great proportions — or reject it, if you'd rather. Many newsmen rather.

We don't know what portent this week's press distribution on the Soviet economy holds, but the figures are awesome.

The Soviet Press Distribution Center chose to report on the Central Statistical Board's Yearbook which describes the "Soviet Naticnal Economy in 1969."

Mark Maximov, commentator for the Novosti Press Agency, authored the report which lists the population of USSR as having risen from 159 million people at the time of the Revolution to 484 million in mid-1970. A foreboding note is immediately introduced as he indicates that 81 per cent of USSR's population was born after the Revolution. That suggests that to this majority there is no other way but the communist way.

Other official figures show that 46.1 per cent of the population is male leaving a majority of the remainder — you guessed it — women (53.9). An apology for this inbalance is made by explaining that the ratio is mostly due to the aftermath of the war. It hastens to explain that the birth rate since the war is like the rate in the rest of the world — more boys than girls.

Population in January, 1970 was 136,003,000 urban residents, or 56 per cent. 105,745,000 people were listed as rural (44 per cent).

Soviet society consists of two classes — the working class and the collective farm peasantry. Intellectuals make up a substantial part of the population, the report says — but so do workers. In 1929 there were 2.9 million workers. In 1959 there were 20.5 millions, and in early 1969 there were 29.9 millions — a fantastic growth if the report in accurate.

From 1913 to 1969 USSR's gross national product grew 38 times, the report says. During the same period the national income rose 43 times; industrial output increased 84 times. In 1969 the cost of industrial production was put at 381 billion rubles. Farm production nearly tripled, reaching 88 billion rubles.

How does this equate to the people?

During this period the average number of wage earners rose from 12.9 to 87.9 million. Specialists with higher and special education rose from 200,000 to 16,100,000 it was reported.

It is also boasted that unemployment has been wiped out and the working day shortened so that all income figures are real. The average worker earns 7.6 times as much as he did at the time of the Revolution and the farm worker's income has increased 11 times.

The total floor space of the housing fund grew on the average from 67.8 to 116 square feet for every rural inhabitant. That means the house is now a "huge" 10 x 10½ feet—about the size of an American's small bathroom.

The total number of school children increased from 10.6 to 78.6 million and the number of doctors increased from 28,000 to 643,000.

The report closes with the statistic that life expectancy in USSR has increased from 32 years to 70 years.

— Or maybe it just seems that much longer.

RAP SESSION — Students Alan Moore, left, Roslyn Saputo, and Kim Edwards, of Mount Miguel High School, talk about drug abuse after session in James Dalrymple's class. Dalrymple, a former narcotics detective, is teaching the classes at the local school to freshmen students.

Local Teacher Reaches Youth In Classes Dealing With Drugs

Walk into James Dalrymple's classroom at Mount Miguel, and the first thing to greet your eye will be the many posters hung all over his room. The sayings on the posters all point to one problem: from "Weedies, breakfast of Headstarters," to "Flower children who go to Pot become Blooming Idiots," one main idea is expressed: dope is for dopes.

Last year, Dalrymple was a geography teacher until students discovered he was a former narcotics detective. They wanted to learn about drugs, and they wanted him to teach them. With the approval of Principal Melvin Grant, the new course began.

"The Grossmont district has had a lot of bad publicity because of its drug problems; it's about time we got some good publicity, too," Dalrymple said.

This year he teaches only classes on drugs. A required course for freshman, it is one of the most extensive in the district, being 9-weeks longs.

Dalrymple believes if a person can show teenagers that he is sincere, and gives factual information, it will get through to them better than the movies that "show kids as teenage monsters after smoking pot once."

He commented that the course is equally helpful to students who don't take drugs, as well as those who do. If a student has considered taking drugs, he hopes to discourage them with the real facts.

Dr. Wilson Riles, new state superintendent of schools, after a visit to the class, told Harold Keen on Channel 8 TV before the election that he had visited the class and was very impressed; and, if elected, he would try to pattern other such courses in the state after this one.

Members of the Sheriff's Department have come to the class and presented the drug problem from the policeman's point of view. Other visitors were from the "Fish House," a religiously-oriented group that counsels youngsters who have drug problems. "Some of the latter were ex-drug addicts, and made a tremendous impression on the kids," Dalrymple commented.

Last semester, instead of taking a regular final, his stu-

Theft Puts Man In Honor Camp

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A Santee man who pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property was fined Tuesday in Superior Court, and his co-defendant, a Lemon Grove man, was ordered sent to the honor camp for a year.

Roger Bruce Clark, 20, of Santee, and Gene Roy Yankey, 22, of 1717 Colfax dr., Lemon Grove, pleaded guilty in El Cajon Municipal Court on Jan. 13 to receiving stolen property and charges of burglary, petty theft and conspiracy were dismissed "in furtherance of justice."

The two, both service station attendants, were arrested on the evidence of an associate. Sheriff's deputies got a search warrant to search Clark's home. They were seeking citizen's band radio equipment, speakers stolen from Monte Vista High School and tape decks taken from cars in the Santee and Lemon Grove areas.

The search was in part successful at the Clark house, but deputies learned that Clark's parents had ordered Yankey to leave there. They then searched Yankey's Lemon Grove home and found more stuff, the probation department's reports stated.

Judge William P. Mahedy put Yankey on four years' probation, sent to honor camp for a year and ordered to make restitution.

Lions Club Honored Last Night

Robert D. Russell, 7613 High st., Lemon Grove, has been honored by the San Diego County Optometric Society with a distinguished Service Award for 'Advancement of Vision Care."

The award was presented by Dr. Jerome Legerton, a Lemon Grove optometrist and vice president of the Lion's Sight Preservation Clinic at 1805 Upas st. in San Diego.

Legerton said the award was given Russell in recognition of his chairmanship of the 1970 White Cane Days when 2,000 Lions Club members in San Diego and Imperial Counties raised over $41,000, much of which was earmarked for the Sight Clinic.

Legerton said the Sight Clinic was originated in 1963 as a joint effort, financed by the Lions Clubs and staffed by the Optometric Society. It is the only such clinic in the nation and has, since its beginning, provided vision care for 3,700 needy patients who live on a marginal income.

In his talk to Society members, Legerton outlined steps being taken to provide new and expanded services at the clinic, including a doubling of the patient load and special services in the areas of vision training, care for the partially blind, and care for the special contact lens patient.

Supervisor Harry Scheidle Acquitted On Last Charge

San Diego County Supervisor Harry F. Scheidle, who's supervisorial district includes Lemon Grove, was acquitted of charges of violating the election code in Superior Court last week.

Scheidle was one of eight San Diego County public officials who were indicted October 8 by the county grand jury following a probe of a Yellow Cab rate increase of 22% in 1967.

Scheidle was a member of the San Diego City Council at the time the council approved the measure.

Judge William P. Mahedy ordered the acquittal verdict after Scheidle's lawyer, Oscar F. Irwin made the motion for acquittal at the conclusion of the people's case.

Scheidle was originally charged with bribery and with conspiracy to obstruct justice as well as consipracy to violate the election code.

The bribery charge was dismissed against the 47-year-old Scheidle at a pretrial hearing.

The conspiracy to obstruct justice charge was dismissed when Scheidel's trial started last Monday, on a motion made by Deputy District Attorney Bernard Revak, who handled the prosecution for the trial.

The trial lasted three days, with the prosecution calling four witnesses to the stand, including former Yellow Cab President Charles A. Pratt, and Robert Covell, who was

Hansen In Race For High School Board

John Hanson, an administrator of the College Foundation at San Diego State College, became the first candidate to file his intentions to seek a trusteeship on the Grossmont Union High School Board.

Hanson, 39, lives at 8031 Royal Gardens court in El Cajon. He will seek one of two posts that open this year. The post of Mrs. Portia Goode's is being vacated as she will serve the Grossmont Junior College Board. The term of George K. Birch expires this year and he has not indicated whether or not he will run. The election will be held April 20.

Hanson, who holds a unique position with the State College Foundation, says his work qualifies him for a trusteeship. Teachers come to the Foundation for innovative programs or research projects. The Foundation acquires grants by preparing the paperwork and then manages the fund once it is acquired.

He said his concern, if elect-

Please clarify the expression "muy cumplido." On various occasions I have heard this phrase used to describe a person. It appears to flatter them. However, if it is taken from "cumplir" which means (according to my dictionary) "to complete," the phrase should mean "very complete" and I don't understand how that is considered flattering. Please explain.

"Cumplido," in the sense of describing a person, means "polite." We may say "El es muy cumplido" for "He is very polite" or "Usted es my cumplido" for "You are very polite."

"Cumplidor" is a variation derived by adding "r" to "cumplido." "Cumplidor" means "reliable." Thus we may say "El es muy cumplidor" for "He is very reliable." or "Usted es muy cumplidor en su trabajo." for "You are very reliable in your work." If we wish to described a girl or a woman as being "reliable" we may say "Ella es muy cumplidora." (She is very reliable). In this case we have added "a" to form the feminine case.

"Cumplir" means "to carry out" or "to complete." For example, we may "cumplir ordenes" (carry out orders) or "cumplir planes" (complete plans). We also "cumplir anos" which suggest that we "complete years" or "reach our birthday." The word for "birthday" (cumpleanos) is taken from "cumplir." You may ask "Es su cumpleanos?" for "Is it your birthday?" which may be taken literally 'Are you completing years?"

Word stress is on the last syllabe for cumplir" (koom-PLEER) and "cumplidor" (koom-plee-DOHR). It is on the next-to-last syllable for "cumplido" (koom-PLEE-doh).

Parish Renewal Misson Nears End at St. John

The third and final phase of the Parish Renewal Mission begins at St. John of the Cross Catholic Church Saturday, at the 7 p.m. Mass, it was announced by Father Patrick Kearney, pastor.

Paulist missionary priests, Fathers Walter Anthony and Peter Shea, are preaching at all weekend masses throughout the month of February. The topic for this weekend, at all six masses, is "The Church, a World-wide Community of Faith, Hope, Love."

Throughout the week the missionaries are meeting in homes throughout the community, celebrating mass and holding discussions, morning and evening.

"We are very pleased with the response so far," Father Anthony said. "Catholic people in Lemon Grove are enthusiastic about recent changes in the liturgy, and are happy over the interest on the part of the Catholic Church in the interfaith dimension, and the emphasis being given to be involved more in the parish community and the civic community."

Catholics are urged to let the host couple in their neighborhood know if they will be present for the mass and discussion.

During the final week of the Parish Mission, the following homes will become centers for the mass and discussions: Monday, Feb. 22, the Brownings, 1612 San Altos pl.; Tuesday, Feb. 23, the Heratys, 7672 Church st., the Wilson Manor Rest Home, Spring Valley, the Berlins, 2543 Bonita st., and St. John Parent Guild.

On Ash Wednesday, the Rodefers, 3263 Alford st.;

Thursday, Feb. 25, the Hambels, 2667 Grange st., the Deanes, 1977 Ensenada, the Giacintos, 2730 Myra st., and the Hannibals, 3715 Hilltop dr.

Friday, Feb. 26, the Kenneth Molines, 3532 Trophy dr., the Stenbecks, 8223 Roy st., and the Johnsons, 1516 San Altos pl.

On Ash Wednesday, Feb. 24, the Paulist missionaries will preach at the masses at St. John's, including the evening masses at 6 and 7:30 p.m.

The month-long Parish Mission at St. John of the Cross Church will come to end on Sunday, February 28, the first Sunday of Lent.

Missionaries will impart the papal blessing of Pope Paul, at the Sunday masses, and it will be Communion Sunday for the whole parish.

The mission topic will be "Hope for Our Times."

Camp Fire Girls Better Quota For Peanut Sales

San Diego County Camp Fire Girls sold over 160,000 cans of nuts during their Annual Peanut Sale which ended February 1.

Over 4,000 girls, aged 7 to 17, participated in the two-week sale. Members of double-quota groups will receive their stuffed "Marmalade" lions at a Camp Rally and Peanut Award program on April 3 at the El Cortez Convention Center. Girl members of groups which sold either 1,000 cans per group or 100 cans per girl will receive "Golden Pine" charm awards at the program.

Of the peanuts sold in the county, approximately 42,000 cans were sold by members of the Heartland District, which covers Camp Fire Girls in the Lemon Grove and Spring Valley areas.

"This is the most successful Camp Fire Peanut Sale in Camp Fire's 42-year history in San Diego. Our council goal was set at 140,000 cans and we topped it by more than 20,000 cans," commented Wallace Weatheringill, 1971 Sale chairman.

At least 20 per cent of the profits from the sale are designated for the council building program. Plans have been completed for a new lodge-dining hall at Camp Wolahi, the council's resident camp in the Cuyamacas. Also slated for future construction is a council service center and youth lodge in Camp Cahito, the Camp Fire Girls' Balboa Park facility.

Mount Miguel High Welcomes 18 Cadet Teachers For Spring

James Dalrymple, Jane Trude, and Earl Peasley are a few of several teachers at Mount Miguel High School who welcomed 18 cadet teachers into their classrooms last week.

The cadet teaching program affords college students working toward a teaching degree to get experience in the classroom, while at the same time it gives help to regular teachers.

Jane Trude, who handles the girls' physical education department, will get three helpers in Pam Allor, Leanne Foster, and Gloria Geldert.

Other cadet teachers include John Minich, boys' P.E.; Marilyn Brookhart, Marilyn Minton, and Tom Van Benthuysen, English; and Bob Burlingham, and Al Martinez, history.

Others are Terry Hausner, social studies; Bob Nance and Pete Schiff, woodshop; Karen Dunivan and Mary Matson, home economics, and Floyd Overton, business law.

Rounding out the list are Bob Burnett, in English as a second language, Helen Peterson, health, and Robert Saunders, in the reading lab.

Though most of the cadet teachers are new at Mount Miguel, several of them have taught at the local school in the past.

Hausner is a veteran in history classes, Pam Allor and Leanne Foster have taught girls' P.E., Saunders has taught Honors English and helped in the reading lab, and Overton is an old hand in the business law classes.

Earl Peasley, who is a regular social studies teacher at Mount Miguel, said that an added advantage of having a cadet teacher is that he can help bridge "the generation gap."

Seth Carpenter added that the program helps the student teacher to find out if he really wants to become a teacher. "The cadet level is the place to find out if they really want to teach," he said.

Pupils will be limited to eight in each class and groups will meet twice weekly except for Saturday classes. Minimal fees will cover a series of 10 lessons.

Mail Bag

What in the world has happened to our over all firmness of the United States in handling situations such as ships and planes? Through the years from about the end of WWII we have steadly lost prestige, from being too good and considerate to people who do not appreciate it.

Ever since the foolish handling of the Korean war, people have taken advantage of our wonderful country and we have let them get by with it. This is a stupid thing to let happen. This is a tragic thing, and should be corrected immediately.

Now if they had been within a reasonable distance of their coast line say ten or twelve miles, now that sounds like a reasonable distance to me. But to think we are giving aid to those people and they are ungrateful enough to pull a stunt like that, it is almost unbelievable. I, for one, certainly do not believe in using our tax money to pay these illegal fines. For once I wholeheartedly agree with Congressman Van Deerlin, do something about it now.

I think this situation regarding coastal fishing boundaries should be brought to the attention of the U.N. and some figure arrived at concerning off shore fishing. And this should apply to all countries, and each abide there by. But I do not think any country should have a voice on any issue, unless they are fully paid on their assessments supporting the United Nations.

Sincerely,
John W. Coyle,
Spring Valley

Dear Editor:

A short note to express my thanks for the abundant space given in your recent issue concerning our school newspaper.

It was, of course, exciting to the students and, I hope, informative to the public about just one phase of the Mt. Vernon PTA's involvement with the school.

I feel much of the credit for our success to date should go to Principal Wiley Cornelius and the faculty for their excellent cooperation.

An independent senior college of 2,000 students, Northrop Tech offers associate in applied science degrees and bachelor and masters of science degrees in several fields of engineering and applied mathematics.

Raab is pursuing studies leading to the B.S. degree in Electronic Engineering. He is a graduate of Vallejo High School, 1969.

Local Student Wins

Monte Vista High School senior Marcia L. Reinhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reinhart, 4561 Dickey dr., La Mesa, has been named as the school's 1971 Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow."

Marcia won the honor on the basis of her score in a homemaking knowledge and aptitude test taken by senior girls Dec. 1.

In addition to receiving a specially designed silver charm from General Mills, Marcia is now eligible for state and national honors, including one of 102 college scholarships totaling $110,000.

PENNIES FOR PINES — Primary youngsters at Rancho Elementary School in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District presented a check for $68 to Konrad Reinke, public information officer for the Cleveland National Forest.
The entire school embarked on a project to help in the reforestation of the burned-out areas of the East County. Upper grade students collected enough money to seed two acres of ground. The primary students collected their amount of money through a collection of aluminum cans.
Cards of appreciation to forest rangers were also presented to Reinke.

We received an "extra special" note of thanks from Mrs. Arna Zook of San Diego recently—"Your ads are for real! One of your servicemen helped me load a refrigerator carton into the back of my station wagon the other day. How refreshing to see that 'little bit extra' in action."

Thanks Mrs. Zook. Like we've been saying—it's nice to have a man from the gas and electric company around.

Doing a little extra. It's not just a slogan.

Doing a little extra is just doing our job.

Monarch Grapplers Snare Loop Title, Bucket Brigade Wins Two

THINGS GO BETTER WITH MONEY — Greg Robinson, left, and Jim Minor stack the last of over 3,000 soda pop bottles collected by members of the Mount Miguel wrestling team last week to help meet expenses for the team. About forty youngsters, including wrestlers, cheerleaders, and fans collected the bottles last Friday from residents of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley. Local bottling companies supplied the cases. The bottles were picked up by the bottling companies Tuesday, and Ned Blass, coach of the team, accepted a check for nearly $150. The money will go to meet overspending on this year's wrestling budget.

Bucketeers Bomb Braves, Outscramble Grossmont

Monte Vista High School had a good week in sports last week, as the basketball team won a pair of games and the wrestling team ripped Grossmont, 31-14.

The Monarch wrestlers, sparked by pins from Steve Fleury and Randy McCorquodale, had no trouble defeating the weak Foothillers and with the win, claiming the league title.

After Monte Vista's man tied with his opponent in the first match, the Monarchs won seven straight matches, including a pin and a forfeit. Jeff Huyett, of Grossmont, then surprised Mark Ochs in the 157-lb. class, edging him 2-1.

The Monarchs then completed the remainder of the contest with three straight decisions and a pin in the final match.

League Titlists

The win enabled the undefeated Monte Vista crew to don the league crown, edging arch-rival Mount Miguel, by a half-game. Monte Vista belted Mount Miguel, 40-10, in the first match of the season, but Mount Miguel came back to win six straight matches, setting the stage for an all-out battle in the league match, Saturday night.

On the basketball court, the top rated Monarchhs handed a solid whipping to El Cajon Tuesday, then won a crucial game over Grossmont Friday night to tie with the Foothillers for the league lead. Two games remain on the schedule for both teams.

On Tuesday night, Monte Vista showed no mercy to visiting Braves, as the Monarchy ran up scores of 23-10 and 44-24 in the first half to please the home crowd.

Braves Bounce Back

In the third period, the ired Braves came back with fire in their eyes and better rebounding, narrowing the Monte Vista lead to 12 points despite three starters fouling out.

The Braves, who had only eight men suited up for the game, were down to their last five men as the fourth period opened, but the Braves continued to foul. Monte Vista made 13 of 15 free throws in the final quarter.

As the period ended, Monte Vista was on top, 81-71.

On Thursday night, the Monte Vistans invaded the Grossmont gym for a clash that meant a lot: the league crown.

Pressure On

The pressure was on both teams, as a loss for Monte Vista would have spelled second place for the local team, and a win for Grossmont would have all but sewed up the league championship.

Both teams started the game with a case of the nerves, as turnovers and missed shots were commonplace. Somehow, however, Monte Vista got the ball through the loop enough times to lead by a single point at the end of the period, 11-10.

In the second quarter, both teams settled down somewhat, as Grossmont came through with rebounds to tie the score, 26-26, by halftime.

During the intermission, Monte Vista Coach Pete Colonelli told the team to move the ball around faster and get the ball in to Allen Bunting.

MV Draws Away

The team responded, getting rebounds and inside shots, and drew away to a 43-37 lead at the end of the period. In the fourth quarter, Monte Vista continued to match the 'Hillers until Kevin Enright and Ralph Drollinger started to muscle down rebounds, and the 'Hillers started hitting from the outside. Grossmont pulled to within two points of the Monarchs, but with less than a minute left in the game, Bob Papciak dribbled the length of the court and hit a layup over the top of Drollinger to ignite the Monarchy.

The deflated 'Hillers managed only one more basket after that, and it was in the bag for Monte Vista.

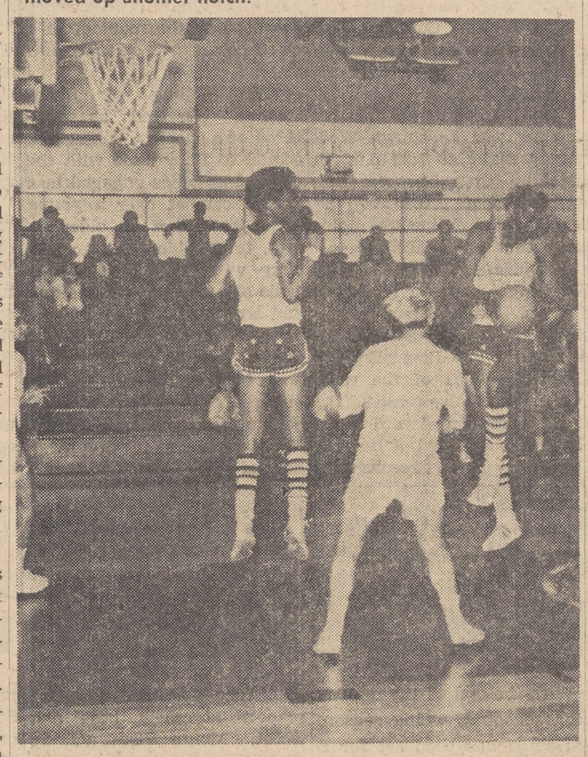
First Place Tie

The win left the two teams knotted for first place, but Grossmont has a small advantage in scheduling, as the 'Hillers meet El Cajon, a lower division team, tomorrow night.

Monte Vista meets a rougher opponent in Mount Miguel, a team that is fighting for a playoff berth.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE Wrestling? The Harlem Clowns are not only very funny basketball players, but they're not bad wrestlers, either, as Brian Smith finds out in photo. Smith was counted out before referee could come to his rescue.

TWO POINTS — When the Harlem Clowns put their minds to it, they can even put the ball through the hoop. Mount Miguel coaches were caught flat-footed here, and the score moved up another notch.



CLOWNING — Two of the Harlem Clowns, who were on hand last Wednesday night at the Mount Miguel gym, confuse coach Brian Smith, of the Mount Miguel faculty. The Harlem team bombed the local faculty team, before a capacity crowd. (Mark Coffin Photos)

Mt. Miguel Grabs Sixth Straight Win

By Walter Ekard

Mount Miguel's grapplers swept to a sixth straight Grossmont League victory over Santana's Sultans by a 31-14 count at Santana last Thursday night.

The Matadors lost only four of thirteen matches in a tune up for the coming Grossmont League finals and looked very impressive throughout the match.

Jim Minor opened the match for Miguel with a victory which was followed by a Dale Siscon pin. The win for Siscon was his seventh in a row without a loss and put him as a prime candidate for another CIF championship.

Gino Cesena decisioned his opponent and brother Miguel followed with another win. Mike Rhoades and Steve Fick also won for Miguel and built a 20-0 lead before the Sultans finally countered by winning two straight matches.

The Matadors again took command as Kevin Pullen pinned and Greg Robinson and Wayne Allen both won by decision. Mike Trebbian was defeated and Steve Schroeder was pinned as Santana finished strong.

Miguel has several wrestlers who have exceptional records in the league. Along with Siscon's 7-0 record, Gino Cesena is 6-0-1, Miguel Cesena is 6-1, and Greg Robinson is 6-1. Cesena's and Robinson's only losses were heartbreakers to Monte Vista when the Monarchs blasted Miguel, 40-10.

Pony League Tryouts Set

Spring Valley Pony League officials announced this week that tryouts for teams in the league will be held February 27 and March 6 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., at the ball field at Santa Sophia Catholic Church, in Spring Valley.

Late registrations will also be taken at the February 27 tryouts for youngsters who failed to register earlier. Those planning to register must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and must bring a birth certificate or other proof of age.

In case of rain on either of the tryout dates, a make-up date of March 13 has been set.

Harlan Svare Named New G.M. Of Chargers

Harland Svare has been appointed general manager of the San Diego Chargers it was announced by executive vice-president and head coach Sid Gillman.

Svare, 40, served 10 years as a coach in the National Football League and was head coach of the Los Angeles Rams from midway in 1962 through 1965. He comes to San Diego from Washington, where he was defensive coach of the Redskins for the last two years.

Svare said his new position was a "a big challenge and I'm very excited about it. From all I've heard around the league, San Diego is the best place in the country to work and live."

Gillman said that Svare "was recommended to the Chargers by some of the foremost people in pro football as a man with the character, personality and experience to be an outstanding general manager. Harland combines the football experience and executive ability we were seeking for the position."

Gillman said that Svare would have absolute authority to sign all players, initiate trades with other clubs and coordinate the departments within the Charger organization. He also will be active in community relations.

"Hiring of a general manager was a key factor in our staff reorganization," explained Gillman. "I want our owner, Gene Klein, to know how much we appreciate his supplying us with the people who will help the Chargers become a championship team."

Svare's appointment gives Gillman three staff members with head coach credentials. The others are offensive coach Charlie Waller and defensive coach Phil Bengtson.

Svare was born in Clarkfield, Minn., on Nov. 25, 1930. He moved to Poulsbo, Wash., at age 11 and played football at North Kitsap High School in Poulsbo and Washington State University. An offensive and defensive end, he caught three touchdown passes in one game against Idaho.

Svare was drafted No. 17 by the Rams in 1953 and traded to the New York Giants in 1955. As right linebacker, he was an integral part of the great defensive units that led the Giants to Eastern Division titles in 1956, 1958 and 1959.

Svare began his coaching career as defensive line assistant with the Giants in 1960. He joined Bob Waterfield's staff in Los Angeles in 1962 and at 32, became the youngest head coach in pro football when he replaced Waterfield, who resigned midway through the season. His 3½-year tenure with the Rams was notable for the development of the Rams' "Fearsome Foursome" defensive line of Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen, Rosie Grier and Lamar Lundy.

After spending 1966 as a stockbroker in Los Angeles, he returned to the Giants as defensive coach. When Vince Lombardi became head coach at Washington in 1969, he summoned Svare to become defensive coach of the Redskins.

Gomez Sees Padres Improving With Competition At Each Post

The San Diego Padres begin spring training Sunday at Yuma, Arizona with what should be the start of the most significant and most interesting period for San Diego players.

It will also be the most interesting for fans — and what makes it so is competition.

Let Preston Gomez, manager of the Padres tell how the season looks as he tries to put together a first division team.

Here's how it looks to him:

The last two springs I could just about name my starting lineup within two weeks of spring drills. This year I can't tell you who will make our squad, let alone the starting lineup. Never before have I entered spring training with so much competition among so many players at so many positions.

There's going to be a battle among our pitchers that I'm sure is going to produce the strongest staff we've ever had. Although right now we have only 13 pitchers listed on our squad, I have at least eight strong candidates for a starting role. And I expect to establish a four-man starting rotation, which means that the competition to earn a starting assignment will be very heavy indeed.

Dave Campbell is a fine second baseman and this year he will have to win the job from Don Mason, whom we acquired in the trade with the Giants.

Mason also can play shortstop and I have Tommy Dean, Jose Arcia, Francisco Libran and Rafael Robles battling for that position as well as our new man, Enzo Hernandez.

From what I have heard and seen of Hernandez he could be the San Diego shortstop for many years to come. But he's going to have to win his job at spring training.

Ed Spiezio has made remarkable progress as a fielder as indicated by his play in winter baseball in Venezuela. We know he's an excellent hitter but he'll be pressed at third base by Campbell and Mason, both of whom are capable of handling that position with skill.

And in left field there's going to be a wild scramble among Dave Robinson, Rod Gaspar, Ivan Murrell, Al Ferrara and John Sipin. And I'm not discounting Larry Stahl, Jim Williams or Jerry Morales.

I've always maintained that competition among a manager's players can only help make them better players and improve the club. That's going to be true with the Padres this spring because for the first time there's going to be strong competition at nearly every position.

Stronger Pitching

I appraise the Padres at the start of spring training this way:

PITCHING — I believe our pitching will be stronger with Tom Phoebus, Clay Kirby, Dave Roberts, Mike Corkins, Danny Coombs, Steve Arlin, Fred Beene and Gary Ross all potential starters. In the bullpen we have Al Severinsen and Darcy Fast.

CATCHING — In Chris Cannizzaro and Bob Barton the Padres have outstanding catching. I was able to give Chris occassional rest last season and he had a fine season. Both Bob and Chris are excellent defensive receivers and they assist greatly in the development of our young pitching staff. Ron Slocum, who can play a variety of infield positions, and Fred Kendall, who hit .307 last year at Salt Lake, are fine prospects.

INFIELD — Nate Colbert is my first baseman and if he can cut down on his strikeouts, he could top the 40-homer mark this season. As I have indicated, I have at least two strong candidates for other infield positions. But I am positive that we will be very strong defensively this season.

OUTFIELD — Ollie Brown in right and Clarence Gaston in center give me great strength at those positions. Depending on the play of whomever wins the left field assignment, the Padres could have the best outfield in baseball.

OFFENSE — We hit 172 homers last year, third highest in the league. I expect we will equal that total but we will score many more runs this season. There are two reasons for this. First, in Mason, Gaspar, Robinson and Hernandez we have the type of player that reaches base with a greater degree of frequency that we had last year. And they all have the speed we have lacked. Second, these four players hit left-handed, a welcome contrast to our all-right handed attack of last season.

DEFENSE — I believe we will make the greatest improvement in this area. Hernandez and Mason are sure to improve our defense. Spiezio as a fielder is a completely new player. Gaspar ranks among the best defensive outfielders in baseball. There's no doubt in my mind that defensively the Padres of 1971 are going to be greatly improved.

SUMMARY — I'm not going to predict how many games the Padres will win this year but I'm positive we will win more than last season. Before starting spring training last year I knew we had improved our starting lineup. This spring I know we have improved our entire team.

A FEW MINUTES' WAIT — Long lines of students waiting to be enrolled in classes were the usual sights last week at Grossmont College, as a record-breaking 10,546 students signed up for spring semester classes. The total number of students represents a 31% increase of spring semester registration last year, and marked only the second time in the history of the school that spring semester enrollment was greater than the fall semester. Enrollment this fall was 10,152.
Of the students signed up for classes, 7,670 will attend all day classes or day and evening classes, while the remainder will study only in the evening.

Grossmont College To Screen Four Films In Next Seven Days

Two films will be shown this evening at Grossmont College, as the school continues its Academy Award Film Series with the screening of "Casablanca" and "The Pharmacist".

The first film, "Casablanca", will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Lecture Hall on campus, with "The Phramacist" to follow. "Casablanca" stars Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman, and W. C. Fields plays the title role in "The Pharmacist.

Next week, the college will continue its Contemporary Film Series when "The Killing of Sister George" and "Born Free" are shown.

"The Killing of Sister George" will be shown Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Lecture Hall, while "Born Free" will be screened the following night, same time and place.

"Casablanca" received an Academy Award for Best Production, Best Direction and Best Screen Play. Selected as one of the 10 Best English Language films of the year, "Casablanca" also received the Best Direction Award from the National Board of Review. Humphrey Bogart received an Academy Award nomination for Best Actor and Claude Rains for Best Supporting Actor for their roles in the film.

"The Pharmacist" portrays the trials and tribulations of pharmacist Fields. Fields lives in an apartment over the pharmacy with his wife Elise and daughters Babe and Lorena.

The climax of the film involves a gangster gunfight on the street outside the pharmacy. Running into the store with guns blazing, the gunman is captured by Lorena's boyfriend Grady who becomes the hero of the moment in a classic scene in a classic comedy.

"The Killing of Sister George," directed as something of a shocker, is almost a sequel to Baby Jane with the two aging ladies engaged in a deadly combat over a young lover instead of an older secret, to provide the film version with some heady injections of unisexual love-making and scenery.

"Born Free" is a faithful screen version of Joy Adamson's book about Elsa, the lion cub reared by the wife of a senior game warden in Kenya. Elsa becomes so much a member of the Adamson family that she must be taught to return to her jungle life. The film was based on the novel, "Elsa the Lioness," that was a world best seller for six years.

In making the picture, two full-grown lions portrayed Elsa while 17 cubs were used for other roles. The real Elsa continued to visit the Adamsons each year until her death. This outstanding motion picture was filmed on location in Kenya, Africa.

"Born Free" received the Scholastic Magazine Bell-Ringer Award, the Federation of Motion Picture Councils Special Citation for "skillful treatment of a remarkable true story, splendid color photography and sensitive performances which result in delightful screen entertainment for movie goers of all ages."

A top grossing picture, "Born Free" was selected as one of the Ten Best of the Year by the National Board of Review. John Barry received an Academy Award for Best Original Music Score and for Best Song, Born Free.

All four of the films are open to the public, with the price of admission set at 50 cents per evening and tickets available at the door.

Local Drama Students Schedule Two Plays

Mount Miguel High School drama director John Adams announced last week that the drama students at the school will put on two plays during the spring semester, with the first to open April 1.

"You Can't Take It With You", the first of the plays, is a story about an unusual family and how they get along with another family, after they are brought together.

Betty Roudene and Cassy Simmons are double cast as Alica Sycamore, who's love for Tony Kirby brings the families together. Alica's family, who's hippie-style ways and carefree life shocks and at first fails to "make it" with Tony's rich, society-oriented family.

As the play develops, however, Alica's grandfather, played by Wade Barnett, uses his wisdom to bring the families together. The role of Tony Kirby is double cast with Rex Kennedy and Dan Cody handling the performances on different nights.

The script for the play called for Russians, Italians, and Negroes, which gave Adams some problems with casting, but he said this week that the actors are coming along pretty well.

The play was written in 1936, but Adams says the work is "as up to date as today." He said that many of the problems written about in the play are the same problems faced today.

The play will run from April 1 to 4 with curtain time for each night set at 8 p.m. in the cafetorium at the school. Admission prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The second play, "The Diary of Anne Frank", will open June 1 for four nights and will feature Janice Knight and Jill Dahl double cast in the title role.

Adams said the play is "a universal story about young people growing up in hard times." He added that the play "promises to be an exciting theatrical performance."

The play is the story of two Jewish families during Hitler's invasion of Europe in World War II. The families are forced to hide in an attic above a small factory in Holland to avoid being placed in concentration camps.

The drama centers around the families as they grow up in the attic.

The roles of Anne's parents will be played by Rick Luiz and Jenine Crosswhite.

'Hay Fever' Starts Tuesday

One of the most popular comedy of the 1920's, "Hay Fever", will be staged by the Old Globe Theatre. The Noel Coward farce will open a five week run on February 23.

Costumes, hair-styles and mannerism will be used by the actors to indicate the period comedy. A typical English country home of the 1920's has been designed by Peggy Kellner.

Noel Coward's principal characters in "Hay Fever" include a flamboyant and unpredictable actress, her unassuming husband, and their independent son and daughter. They are spending a week-end at their English country home.

Without informing others, each family member has invited a guest for the weekend. Tempers flare when the four individuals arrive to be housed, fed and entertained. The family becomes bored with their guests and develop imaginative methods to encourage their departure.

Bette Laws and Burt Miller will portray the uninhibted parents with Ruth Nordgren and Dan Davis as their free-thinking children. Julia Brandley Frampton is a seductive divorcee, Serena Pratt is a shy ingenue, Tom Cosgrove is a rising young diplomat and William Parker is a youthful athlete. Betty Boni is the family retainer and maid.

Students through College may purchase reserved seat tickets at $1.50 each, except Saturday evenings. This is a 40% reduction. Advance reservations are suggested, 239-2255 after noon.

Evening performances are scheduled nightly except Monday through March 28. Three Sunday matinees will be performed February 28, March 14 and March 28.

Flamenco Guitarist To Play

Grossmont College will present one of Spain's most celebrated flamenco guitarists when Senor Francisco Espinosa appears in concert at 8 p.m., Wednesday, February 24, in the Student Center.

A large repertoire ranging from the fiery rhythms of Spain to contemporary favorites of this country is the major contributing factor in Espinosa's remarkable success in winning world wide critical acclaim. Once a featured performer with Jose Greco and Jose Molina Bailes Espanoles, he pleased audiences with his virtuosity sufficiently to develop a following of his own.

Espinosa made his professional debut at the age of 16. He has studied with both classical and flamenco masters in his native Cadiz. He has made many international recordings and recently received the Grand Prix du Dique, France's equivalent of the American "Gold Record."

The public is invited to hear one of the great Spanish guitarists perform in his 5th coast to coast personal appearance tour. The price of admission is $1 with tickets available at the door.

Library Sets Programs

The Spring Valley Library will hold special pre-school story time programs every Tuesday morning during the month of March.

The programs are aimed at youngsters between the ages of three and five, and will meet at 10 a.m. each Tuesday.

Interested parents are urged to register their youngsters at the library, 1033 Elkelton blvd., Spring Valley.

Stage Set For Loop Wrestling Tournament

With the end of the regular high school wrestling season, the stage has been set for a super battle between Monte Vista, Helix and Mount Miguel in the League Finals, set for Saturday afternoon at Grossmont High School.

After a wild and wooly league race that saw all three schools at their best and worst, Monte Vista will be slight favorites to take the title, although Mount Miguel can't be rated too far behind.

Monte Vista took the dual meet championship with a 6-0-1 record, and Mount Miguel was second with a 6-1 mark, losing only to Monte Vista in the first match of the season.

Helix, the only team to match the Monarchs in the regular season, can't be counted out of the competition. Helix tied the Monarchs during the regular season, although the Highlanders lost to Mount Miguel.

Individually speaking, Mt. Miguel has the edge, with two undefeated wrestlers and four more who could be favored to win. The Matadors will send in Dale Siscon and Gino Cesena as their top hopefuls, and will get support from the likes of Miguel Cesena, Greg Robinson, and Mark Schuff.

Monte Vista boasts such stars as Steve Sleury and Randy McCoquodale, and gets help from Rick Weathers. Weathers and Sleury are both candidates for CIF honors.

Lecture Set Feb. 27 On Beach Threat

Dr. Bernard Pipkin, geology professor at the University of Southern California, will speak on "Our Dwindling Beaches" at a public seminar Feb. 27 during the bi-annual Trojan Symposium at Town & Country Hotel.

Natural and manmade incursions upon Southern California beaches threaten one of the greatest environmental resources of this region, Pipkin believes. Every year Southern California permanently loses enough sand to fill half of the Los Angeles Coliseum, he points out.

In his talk at 11:30 a.m., Dr. Pipkin will analyze some of the causes of this action and discuss possible solutions.

Reservations for the Symposium may be made in advance with Robert Lewis, San Diego alumni president, at 304 Ivy st., San Diego. High School students may attend as guests of the university. For others, reservations are $5.

Nrway's constitution dates back to 1814 and gives important executive powers to the king, but these are generally exercised by a Council of Ministers.

Rain Here Tops ½ Inch

It's about time, the old-timers were saying.

They were referring to the winter rains which are running behind normal but well ahead of the total which had fallen by the same date last year.

The midweek storm brought .57 inches to the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area which raised this season's total to 6.86 inches at press time.

Last year at the same time the total was just 3.62.

Rain seasons start July 1.

Sen. Burgener Pushes 'FedFare' Program

SACRAMENTO — Senator Clair W. Burgener is plumping for "FedFare."

That's a word-marriage of convenience joining together the federal government and states' welfare programs.

He has introduced a resolution in the Senate requesting the federal government to take over the entire financing and administering of the welfare program.

Such a move would be in keeping with recent court cases involving residence requirements and the resulting decisions which have firmly established a federal citizenry, Burgener said.

The San Diego lawmaker said his resolution would provide an acceptable alternative to revenue sharing, should it serving three American Pub- while providing a savings of over $816 million, based on the current welfare program, to the taxpayers of California.

With uniform federal standards and federal administration, it will be possible to establish true accountability at one level of government, and yet provide continued welfare coverage for those people who move to a new state without placing an additional tax burden on the residents of the adopted state as has happened here in California. This will go a long way toward helping aleviate the financial crisis now confronting California, he said.

Master Plan

acres is in the Mt. Vernon st area; another, eight acres in size, is asked in the Washington st. area.

In Poway, Dorman said where the local planning group already had a master plan, variances have been denied by the County Planning Department on the request of the Poway Planning Association.

"We need to concern ourselves with these matters after our master plan is approved," he said. He also said that he did not have any opinion regarding the present applications for variances because an eventual plan for the community has not yet been determined by the Association.

He urged more pleople to take part in the proceedings—especially in the formative stage. "It will be a rewarding experience to have a voice in the shape and make-up of the future Lemon Grove," he said.

Any interested person may attend meetings, either general or executive ones. Meetings are completely open and a member is anyone who attends. Anyone may ask questions from the floor at any of the meetings, Dorman said.

Scheidle Acquittal

Scheidle's campaign treasurer during his campaign for reelection to the city council in 1965 and again when he was elected to the board of supervisors in 1968.

Covell was also indicted following the probe into the rate increase, but Revak moved for dismissal of the charges before he called him as a prosecution witness against Scheidle on Tuesday.

Scheidle said after the trial that he hoped the trial would

College Gets One Of Two Accreditations

On a recent visit to Grossmont College, Dr. Archie Higdon, dean of the School of Engineering, California State Polytechnic College, complimented C. Allen Paul, dean of Technical Vocational Education, on the accreditation of the college's Engineering Electronics Technology Program by the National Engineers Council for Professional Development.

In commenting on the accreditation, Dr. Higdon noted that only one other community college in California received the coveted accreditation that was the result of an on-site examination of the college's staff, curriculum and equipment.

In discussing engineering as a career, Dr. Higdon said: "Opportunities abound in all engineering fields particularly those stressing environmental control. Many areospace 'engineers' are not actually engineering degree holders. Very few qualified engineers remain unemployed in spite of the cutback in the aerospace industry.

An acute shortage of engineers and technologists with degrees is anticipated in 5 to 7 years if an increasing number of students do not choose engineering as a career.

Students interested in engineering or the engineering technologists degree programs are urged to attend a community college such as Grossmont, and then transfer to a four-year college after they receive their associate degree. Grossmont College graduates are accepted at Cal Poly as upper division students with all units directly transferable."

Drug Classes

dents went out in drug teams to surrounding elementary and junior high schools, and discussed and answered questions concerning the drug abuse problem. Dalrymple feels they will retain the information longer if they have a chance to tell others what they have learned. The teams were so well received that students they talked to, are now going down to the lower grades in their schools, and talking to others.

Dalrymple is sure this program has worked so far because he has had students lay marijuana on his desk, and other students renounce drugs openly.

Principal Melvin Grant said the course is very worthwhile and hopes that someday courses like it will be helping students all over the state.

Junior High Youngsters Plant Trees

Sixty-five members of Lemon Grove Junior High School's Citizenship Club helped in transplanting seedling pines in the Kitchen Creek area of the Cleveland National Forest last Saturday.

Sponsored by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis, the groups left in two busses furnished by Goodall's Charter Bus Service for the site, where they took part in the day-long "Pennies for Pines" project.

Lemon Grove Jr. High Principal Louis Poluzzi, who is also a second vice president of Lemon Grove Kiwanis, said, "I am very proud of these young people who gave up a day of their four-day holiday to do something for their fellow citizens, to plant things of beauty in the charred areas that people loved and enjoyed before the fires last fall."

Joining forces with those sponsored by other groups, the Lemon Grove youngsters planted approximately 5,000 trees under the supervision of Forester Joe Cruz and the Four-Wheel Drive Club of Oceanside.

BIGGEST ONE — Rowena Bryant, left, and Valerie McAfee were proud of completion of planting the largest tree of the day. The two girls were among the 65 youngsters from Lemon Grove who participated in the program, which was sponsored by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club.

Protestors To Attend Hearings

cant. His request is for 96 dwellings and a recreation center on 8 acres of land. Construction is 4-plexes.

Petitioners ask for rejection of the request on the basis that such a development would overcrowd an already constricted neighborhood which was built primarily for single family residences. It would also add to the street congestion on which traffic problems presently exist. Two elementary schools, Mt. Vernon and Monterey Heights schools are already at capacity and Mt. Miguel High school is presently on double sessions, the petition warns. If the permit is granted, it would further reduce the living quality of the entire Monterey Heights community, according to the petitioners.

Dr. Sorteberg said that in some communities such developments have been for the benefit of investors rather than concern for the community it harms. "Any development ought to be in keeping with the appearance and quality of the neighborhood," he said.

Both hearings are scheduled for Friday and it is expected the hearing room will be full of Lemon Grove residents.

Whether their appearance and their petitions will be effective is a moot question. Ben Grame, associate planner, zone division, County of San Diego Planning Department, said Tuesday that by the time a hearing is called on a Planned Residential Development, both the developer and the Planning Department are pretty much in agreement. There may be some adjustments to be made but usually the developer doesn't bring it to hearing if the disagreements are wide, he said.

There are usually three or four hearings between the applicants and the planning staff prior to the time a hearing is asked, he noted.

He also said that protests are noted and made a part of the record but such action seldom changed the outcome.

If Planning approves the request, interested persons may appeal to the County Board of Supervisors.

Jim Dorman, president of the Lemon Grove Planning Association said Wednesday that eventually such requests will be reviewed by the Association — after the organization establishes a community plan. In Poway, he said, some requests for special use and variances did not go to hearing when the Poway Planning Association disapproved the requests.

"Our group is not in a position to know whether the two projects are good or bad," Dorman said. "Someday we can be guided by what the Association approved as the best plan for Lemon Grove."

Dorman reminded that the executive committee of the group meets every two weeks and that any interested citizen may become a member simply by attending. There will be a meeting today at 3 p.m. at the L.G. Junior High School auditorium, he said.

There are posts open on every committee, he said. Those who want to participate in the future development of the community will have a splendid opportunity to do so in the Planning Association.

Broadway Plan

and parking control curbs. Under a Chamber of Commerce designed plan, center island landscaping, center island street lights, repaving, striping, sweeping and maintenance of the parking strips would be included.

Russell said he would also set aside time to discuss two Planned Residential Developments for more than 100 living units in the Monterey Heights area which caused almost 500 petitioners to protest.

Meetings are open to the public.
